We are undertaking a Hazard, Risk and Vulnerability Assessment for your community!

Hazard, Risk and Vulnerability Assessments (HRVAs) are building blocks for developing a community emergency management plans. The assessment process collects and analyzes information and data about natural and human-caused hazards that can impact a community and create hardship.

This information is then used to inform and develop emergency response plans, community support plans and helps prepare the community for emergencies. It's an important step toward community resilience.

HRVAs are developed from:

It is important to capture different perspectives to ensure nothing is missed.

Your input is important to us. Any thoughts, insight and knowledge you can give will help develop a robust and thorough assessment and support our shared efforts toward community resilience. Please contact us with any information you think would be helpful, or questions you may have.
